

TRANSNATIONAL LAW & CONTEMPORARY PROBLEMS

A Journal of The University of Iowa College of Law

Subscription Form

TLCP constitutes a substantial departure from the traditional law journal format. TLCP issues focus on contemporary problems of transnational significance in, typically, a symposium format. Recognizing that global problems are complex and multi-dimensional, TLCP takes a multidisciplinary approach by exploring not only the legal, but also the economic, social, political, and cultural aspects of current developments in public, private, and comparative international law.

TLCP is unique in its approach and content because it provides to the international and comparative law community matters of interest and innovation not commonly found in other journals and reviews. Issues have included such innovations as symposia featuring articles by distinguished legal scholars and practitioners; living history interviews with people of international accomplishment; and foreign legislative developments, treaties, conventions, and other international agreements.

Past symposium topics include: Global Warming, Indigenous Peoples' Rights, Feminist Inquiries into International Law, Preferred Futures for the United Nations, International Criminal Law, Arms Control and Non-Proliferation, Regional Trade Agreements, Privatization in Russia, the Bretton Woods System, Convention on the Rights of the Child, Nuclear Weapons and the World Court, International Commercial Arbitration, Commemoration of the 50th Anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, Re-framing International Law for the 21st Century, and Africa in the Third Millennium: Legal Challenges and Prospects.
